

Remote Patrol Services

A smarter way to patrol your premises

Remote Patrol Services give you a pro-active security presence that's ready to deter trouble 24/7. Remote patrolling via strategically placed cameras gives you eyes on your weak spots more consistently and cost-effectively than security officers alone.

Video-based patrols form the basis of an all encompassing security solution. On these patrols, we inspect your premises and critical assets, monitor any suspicious activity, assure compliance and leverage the power of behaviour modification to reduce security expenses over time.

With most routine observation handled by operators, security officers can make better use of their time and respond to incidents more quickly. And if an incident occurs while no one's watching, intelligent software can analyze the situation and trigger the right response, right away.

Advantages of remote patrol services

- More consistent coverage of all your weak spots
- Cost-effective even if you have many sites in remote locations
- Enhance the productivity of your security officers
- Quicker response in an emergency
- Simpler legal/insurance process after incident
- Access to cutting edge technology with no major new investment
- Vastly reduced number of false alarms
- Prevent incidents before they happen
- Part of a comprehensive service portfolio

How remote patrol services works

- Expert consultation to find best camera locations and angles
- Cameras and software connected to a Securitas monitoring centre
- Highly trained professionals remotely monitor video feeds at regular intervals
- Immediate response to incidents identified by operator or analytics
- Response can include one- or two-way audio for live intervention
- Remotely reset alarm when no action is called for to eliminate unnecessary call-outs (alarm verification service)
- Keep close watch during critical events, e.g. opening/closing, transferring goods, etc. (remote entry/exit management and escort services)
- Documented evidence when incidents occur
- Open platforms allow existing equipment to be utilized – often in combination with cutting edge technology
